NMA (NOMADARCHITECTURE)

Stuttgart based architecture label, since 2004, design collective of architects, research pool architecture – design – fashion

NMA is an architecture - as well as a design label. The initiative grew out of an architectural project and today links a number of architects that collaborate on different, interdisciplinary projects (3-7 members).

NMA always works on site. An important element of our work is to create out of the moment and not to engage in endless previous planning. Therefore, the environment of the project, as well as items on site that are at hand play an important role. These ingredients - the circumstances, existing material as well reactions of participating people regulate each projects process.

NMA works like a band. Each member of the collective masters his/her instrument. And only by joining each other on stage the final product is being created.
